San Diego Writers, Ink Celebrates the Publication of it's First Anthology The San Diego Public Library Continues to Spotlight Local Writing Talent

SAN DIEGO – The San Diego Public Library and San Diego Writers, Ink invite the public to an evening of readings from A Year in Ink. The FREE event will take place at 6:30 p.m. on Monday, March 17 in the Wangenheim Room of the Central Library, located at 820 E Street in downtown San Diego.

A Year in Ink, San Diego Writers, Ink's premiere anthology, is an inspired collection of poems, excerpts from novels and memoirs, and short stories by writers—including Roger Aplon, Steve Kowit, Suzana Norberg, Sylvia Levinson, Judy Reeves and 24 others—who were part of The Ink Spot's first year.

San Diego Writers, Ink is a nonprofit literary organization that nurtures writers and those wishing to explore the craft of writing, fosters a literary community, promotes literature and celebrates artistic diversity. The Ink Spot, located in the Art Center Lofts in San Diego's East Village, is home to SDW, Ink and is the venue for its classes, workshops, groups, readings and other literary events. You may find more information online at www.sandiegowriters.org.

The anthology is edited by Thomas Larson, author of The Memoir and the Memoirist. Many of the contributors to A Year in Ink have published work in literary journals, anthologies, and other publications, and some have published books of poetry, fiction, and nonfiction. Copies of A Year in Ink will be available for purchase at the event.
